

I love Indiana for having the No-call list. I do not believe that the CBA should be allowed to be an exception to the rule. This will only open the door for others. I have had dealings with a few of their banks and do not want bothersome phone calls made to my home. If I wish to do more business with their banks then I will contact them myself on my own time table. I do not want them contacting me. If they need a source to let the people know what they have to offer then they should use advertising such as papers and television, not phone calls. Thanks for your time.
